

Police are still in the process of determining the exact course of events which took place yesterday afternoon near the Arches at the back of school. At this point the officers have spoken to teachers with a view to ascertaining what happened. The child involved in the incident was walking home from school with a friend. The child was approached by male.

With all suspicious incidents such as this which are as yet unexplained, we would like to take this opportunity to remind parents and carers to reiterate 'Stranger Danger' messages to their children and ensure that children are always supervised at school drop off/pickup times.

The police have the full support and co-operation from the school in ensuring that the safety and care of all pupils. Anyone with any concerns or requiring further information should contact Police on 101.

---

Police are still in the process of determining the exact course of events which took place yesterday afternoon near the Arches at the back of school. At this point the officers have spoken to teachers with a view to ascertaining what happened. The child involved in the incident was walking home from school with a friend. The child was approached by male.

With all suspicious incidents such as this which are as yet unexplained, we would like to take this opportunity to remind parents and carers to reiterate 'Stranger Danger' messages to their children and ensure that children are always supervised at school drop off/pickup times.

The police have the full support and co-operation from the school in ensuring that the safety and care of all pupils. Anyone with any concerns or requiring further information should contact Police on 101.

---

Police are still in the process of determining the exact course of events which took place yesterday afternoon near the Arches at the back of school. At this point the officers have spoken to teachers with a view to ascertaining what happened. The child involved in the incident was walking home from school with a friend. The child was approached by male.

With all suspicious incidents such as this which are as yet unexplained, we would like to take this opportunity to remind parents and carers to reiterate 'Stranger Danger' messages to their children and ensure that children are always supervised at school drop off/pickup times.

The police have the full support and co-operation from the school in ensuring that the safety and care of all pupils. Anyone with any concerns or requiring further information should contact Police on 101.

---

Police are still in the process of determining the exact course of events which took place yesterday afternoon near the Arches at the back of school. At this point the officers have spoken to teachers with a view to ascertaining what happened. The child involved in the incident was walking home from school with a friend. The child was approached by male.

With all suspicious incidents such as this which are as yet unexplained, we would like to take this opportunity to remind parents and carers to reiterate 'Stranger Danger' messages to their children and ensure that children are always supervised at school drop off/pickup times.

The police have the full support and co-operation from the school in ensuring that the safety and care of all pupils. Anyone with any concerns or requiring further information should contact Police on 101.

---