

Dear Parents/Carers

As you know next week is SAT's week in school and your child will be completing a series of tests that will test their knowledge in English and Maths.

I am aware that you were given guidance and recommendations with regards to this at Parents Evening in February but I would just like to reiterate the importance of a few things that were mentioned.

It is vital that your child gets a good night's sleep during the week and the days leading up to the test, so please encourage your child to do this. In addition to this we recommend that electronic devices are not used an hour before bedtime as this can have an effect on the quality of your child's sleep.

The children have worked really hard in preparation for these tests and we wish them luck for the week. We look forward to seeing them bright and early each morning at Breakfast Club, eager to perform to the best of their capabilities.

Thank you

Mrs Parr
